

Jackson Lee

Quiet

Don't like interacting with family

Rely on friends

Age: 23

Work: Student

Family: Single, Live with family

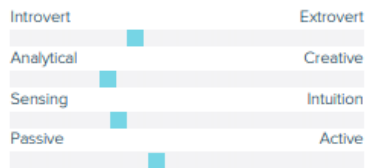

Location: Vancouver, Canada

Gender: Male

"I hate the epidemic for preventing me from hanging out with my friends."

Personality

Bio

Jackson is a college student who is about to graduate. His father is a businessman, and his mother is a company executive. Because of his parents' busy work, Jackson's interaction with his family is often low. His parents have high expectations of him, and they hope Jackson can find a job immediately after graduation. He is very introverted and relies on his friends. They often hang out together. Jackson also trusts them as his only person to express his mood. But now, because of the epidemic, his parents asked him to stay at home, and the changing of his life made him feel anxious, scared or even melancholy. He hopes to find someone who can express his mood and help him.

Goals

- Find someone who can express the mood.
- Need help from a professional youth psychologist.

Frustrations

- Don't want parental assistance.
- Don't want to listen to long lessons.

Preferred Channels

Social Media

Mobile

E-mail

Traditional Ads

