Personality

Bio

Ella is a waitress in a restaurant, and everyone loves her because of her lovely personality. Ella has a boyfriend who has in relation for 8 years. All her friends and her family think they should get married soon. However, one day, Ella got home early from getting off work and found that her boyfriend was hanging out with her friends at their door, and they were not looking like normal friends. Such a shock made her unacceptable. Her personality began to sink, silence, and she even thought of suicide. But her only sanity tells her that she must seek help now. She doesn't want to make her family sad.
